

Kennedy Asks States to Start Road Building

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy, seeking to ease unemployment hardship, today urged state governors to speed the spending of a billion dollars in federal aid for highway and school construction.

At his news conference Wednesday night, the President disclosed that he had ordered faster spending of $734 million on the federal highway program to combat "unemployment."

The White House today made public Kennedy's telegram to the governors. In addition to a speech up in spending of highway funds, the President told the governors he also had released this money.

Mr. Flowers said that District Engineer J. E. Lowder had been very helpful in showing

Mr. Flowers emphasized this money was spent on regular and emergency maintenance carried out by Highway Department employees. Costs for construction and major reconstruction projects done under contract were not included. It was also pointed out that no federal-aid funds were used since the Federal Government does not participate in highway maintenance.

Urges Swift Action by Government

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg estimated today that three million more Americans will suffer long-term unemployment in the next 13 months and urged Congress to pass swiftly President Kennedy's bill to extend jobless benefits.

Goldberg testified before the House Ways and Means Committee as the administration opened its drive for enactment of its economic package. The measure picked for that effort is the one generally considered to have the least opposition. It would provide federal funds for extension, up to 13 weeks, of unemployment benefits to those who have used up their rights under existing law.

As the hearing got under way the Republicans ran up new storm signals for the whole program, assailing what they called "Democratic gloom-and-doom distortions."

The GOP national committee publication "Battle Line" labeled as a major political exaggeration a statement by House Speaker Sam Rayburn that the need to do something about unemployment is "the most urgent since the Great Depression."

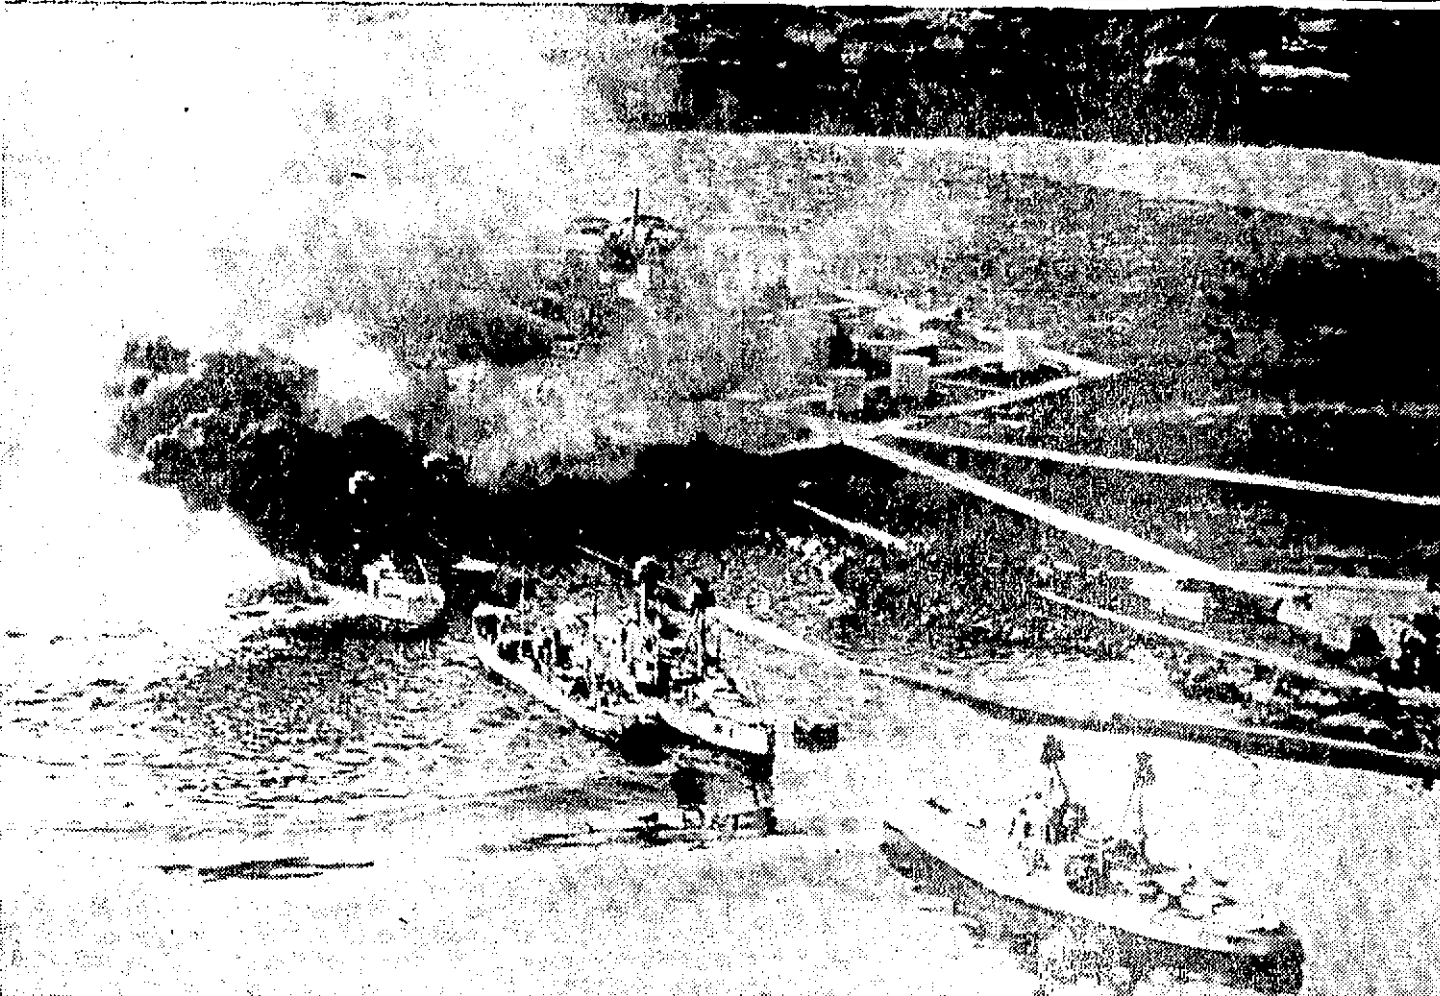

The publication said that while unemployment is serious in a few areas, the state of the economy is generally sound.

Goldberg, who recently completed a tour of some of the hardest-hit unemployment areas, told the committee he had seen the destructive effects of unemployment not only on the jobless themselves but on "the economic health of our communities and the nation."

"This (unemployment compensation) program will quickly put into circulation almost a billion dollars of purchasing power to buy the necessities of life," Goldberg said, adding that the money would go out quickly to a large number of people and therefore "be most beneficial to our economy."

He estimated that the number of unemployed who have exhausted their benefits, now one-half million, will rise to 600,000 by April 1 and "in the 12 months following April 1 at least another 3 million workers are expected to exhaust benefits before they get jobs, of which about 2.4 million are expected to draw extended benefits under this program."

The outlook, he said, is for worse unemployment than prevailed in 1958-59 when, he said, 2.7 million persons exhausted their

PTA Observe Founders Day

A joint meeting of the Prescott Sr. and Jr. High and Elementary PTA was held Thursday in the high school auditorium.

Mrs. Wayne Eley, president of the Sr. High PTA presided. The devotionals were by Rev. J. H. Robertson. Miss Frances Thrasher gave the highlights of the state presidents' message. Mrs. Trosie Fornby, Mrs. Ellis Stewart and rights during the corresponding months.

The administration bill would provide federal advances to the states to extend unemployment benefits, and would boost the unemployment tax on employers by increasing its base from $3,000 to $4,800 per employee, Goldberg said.

The increased yield would enable the states to repay the federal government within five years and also build up their reserves.

Mrs. Freeman Ligon were elected to serve on the nominating committee for the Sr. High and Mrs. P. A. Escarre, Mrs. Archie Johnson and Mrs. J. B. Franks for the Jr. High-Elementary PTA.

Mrs. Leonard Graham presented Mrs. Escarre, who was in charge of the program on Founders Day. She served as moderator for a panel composed of Mrs. Eley, Mrs. Graham, Mrs. Adrain Brackman, Mrs. Leonard Hart, Mrs. Bob Reynolds and Mrs. Kenneth Ledbetter who were interviewed in regards to Founders Day.

Winners in room count for Elementary-Jr. High were Southwing Mrs. Whitmarsh's second grade; Northwing, Mrs. Pearce's sixth grade and in Jr. High Mrs. Dildys 8th grade. The Jr. Class was the winner in High School.

After the meeting a Founders' Day tea was held in the Home Ec Cottage, carrying out the Valentine theme. The serving table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of carnations and white mums interspersed with red tapers. Red and white iced cakes were served by Mrs. Eley and Mrs. Reynolds presided at the silver service.

Predicts a Good Trend by April

NEW YORK (UPI)—The market's record as a business forecasting tool has been sufficiently accurate that its present implications should not be treated lightly, according to Standard & Poor's.

The S&P publication "Outlook" says this does not mean that business trends will turn upward immediately, or that no further bad news is in the offing, but "by the end of this quarter there should be some tangible evidence that a reversal is in the making."

If not, Standard says, there is every indication that the new administration will pull out all the stops in its effort to turn the tide.

S&P says it doesn't write off the possibility of a personal income tax cut, and as a last resort, asking Congress to cut the withholding tax by five percentage points for six to nine months, if the artificial respiration already suggested for the economy proves insufficient.

However, Standard adds that the natural forces—chiefly inventories—are moving toward a point where they would cause a turn in the trend without government pump priming. It says an upturn in new orders should begin to appear by the second quarter.

Walston & Co. thinks General Precision Equipment is an interesting stock for "traders" in view of a still possible future merger with Martin Co. and the fact that it sells on a more reasonable basis than many of the "high fliers" in the electronics industry, despite its "sophisticated scientific know-how."

Joseph E. Granville of E. F. Hutton & Co. says the Russian feat of piggy-back missile launching was more than just another chapter in a weight-lifting contest. It should step up interest again in U.S. missile stocks and help keep the February market reaction temporary, according to the analyst.

Bill Sets Up Ferry on Arkansas R.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A bill authorizing the state Highway Department to establish a ferry on the Arkansas River between Arkansas and Desha counties passed the House by a 56-19 vote when it was called up for reconsideration today.

The bill got 36 votes for it to 33 against when it first was voted on Thursday. It takes 51 votes to pass a bill.

One of the principal objectors to the bill was Perry County Rep. Paul Van Dalsen, the man who for years fought a battle which resulted in establishment of a free ferry at Todd Suck Landing in his county.

Arkansas County Rep. Grover C. Carnes carried the bill over the opposition of Rep. E. E. Hopson of Desha County, who contended state operation of the ferry would put the present owner, one of his constituents, out of business.

Carnes claimed the ferry was needed to permit interchange of agricultural processing facilities between the two sides of the river. He said south Arkansas rice farmers need to bring their crops to mill at Stuttgart and Arkansas County fish farmers need a free route to a processing plant at Dumas.

Hopson's only objection was that it would put the present owner out of business. He did not argue with Carnes' other points.

The House defeated a bill which would have required withholding of salary from circuit and chancery judges who have not disposed of all cases submitted to them for a final ruling for more than 120 days. The 120 days would begin when the case is concluded, except for the judge's decision. The bill got 41 votes to 39 against it, but it needed 51 to pass.

Belgian Civilian Shot to Death

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—A gunman shot dead a Belgian civilian in the town of Lubumbashi Tuesday night as tension spread across the Congo after ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba's death.

The United Nations reported all Europeans in the Lumumba stronghold cities of Stanleyville and Bukavu have been advised to stay in their homes.

The Belgian killed in Lubumbashi was playing cards at a sidewalk cafe when two gunmen approached, and challenged him to say what he thought of Lumumba's death.

When he refused to reply, the Congolese jerked out pistols and opened fire, witnesses said. A U.N. report said the gunmen were arrested.

Fuel Barge Burns on Mississippi

MEMPHIS (AP)—A 19,000-barrel barge of fuel oil formed a pillar of fire on a Mississippi River sandbar today—the aftermath of a towboat collision.

It happened Tuesday night 11 miles south of the Memphis Bridge. Three big fuel-laden barges puffed fire over 100 feet high after the impact but no one was hurt on either towboat.

The three barges all ran aground a few miles downstream from the collision site about an hour after they were separated from the large trains.

Rivermen said the flames aboard two barges died down after about three hours.

The collision happened at a stretch of river called Wine Oak Point. The Emily Jean, pushing four barges loaded with idel and furnace oil, was heading south, the Bull Durham, shoving three barges of gasoline, was coming north when they collided.

There was no serious damage to either towboat and no injuries.

No Objection to Ambassador

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said today Switzerland has raised no official objections to Earl E. T. Smith as U.S. ambassador to Bern.

Reports from Bern said the Swiss government is embarrassed by President Kennedy's proposed appointment of Smith.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said the Swiss government has given no indication of any objection to Smith or of being embarrassed by his proposed appointment.

Smith is a personal friend of Kennedy. A Republican, Smith supported Kennedy in the last presidential campaign.

Beautifully built to set trends in styling and savings beautifully built to take care of itself

This is probably the most imitated look in automobiles today. Take the roofline, for instance. (Most other cars have!) Yet it looks best on its original setting, the Ford Galaxie. The roof and all the rest of the car were designed to go together. This is what makes the Classic Ford Look.

Moreover, this car is as beautifully built as it is beautifully shaped. As Ford takes care of itself, it takes care of your budget.

See the roster at right, and you'll conclude: This is the Ford in your future. May we open its door to you... soon?

- HERE'S HOW THE '61 FORD TAKES CARE OF ITSELF
- Lubricates itself—You go 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications (which cost only about $4.00 and take about 20 minutes).
  - Cleans its own oil—You go 4,000 miles between oil changes with Ford's Full-Flow oil filter (which filters better through specially packed filters).
  - Adjusts its own brakes—New Truck Size brakes adjust themselves—automatically.
  - Guards its own muffler—Ford mufflers are double-wrapped and aluminum to last three times as long as ordinary mufflers.
  - Protects its own body—All vital underbody parts are specially protected to resist rust and corrosion, even to galvanizing its body panels beneath the doors.
  - Takes care of its own finish—Just wash and clean Ford's new Diamond Lustre Finish and it will continue to glisten like new. It even needs waxing.
  - Extended Warranty—Each part of 61 Ford, except tires, is dealer warranted against defects in materials or workmanship for 12 months or 12,000 miles, whichever comes first. The Rev. J. D. Montgomery underwent surgery at the Wadley Hospital in Texarkana on Wednesday. His many friends will want to write him there, and the first report was that he is doing as well as could be expected.

Coming and Going

Mrs. R. W. Bayless of Gurdon is visiting her daughter, Mrs. K. G. Hamilton, and Mr. Hamilton.

Mrs. Charles Graham left Thursday for Washington, D. C., to visit her son, Butch, who is in a VA hospital there.

Mr. and Mrs. Mont Revels, Mark, and Debbie of Houston, Tex., spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Barnes.

Mr. and Mrs. David Pack and Less of Pine Bluff visited with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Raley over the weekend.

brings me home from a date I'm mad and as soon as I get through the door start bawling like a baby, especially when I realize what a fool I've been. These tantrums are driving my boy friend away.

Maybe I'm over-emotional, but I would appreciate your opinion on this crazy problem. —A. H.

Dear A. H.: It is my opinion based upon experience as a reporter, and from what I've seen happen in my own family that tantrums, emotional upsets and ill-temper are outward manifestations of some physical disturbance, or maladjustment. It could be glandular. Better check with your family doctor.

But one thing is for sure, unless you conquer these tantrums you will ultimately wreck your own life as well as the lives of those near and dear to you.

Dear Helen: I am a foreigner, in love with a pretty 24-year-old American divorcee who has a 5-year-old daughter.

She talks of marriage eagerly. I reluctantly, She appears more devoted to her child than me, lives in the same town with her ex-husband and sees him every weekend when he visits their baby. They go out together. I feel she uses their child to string him along. These circumstances cause my indecision.

For fear of losing her I hesitate to ask her to give up the child to her mother or former husband, both of whom are anxious to have it. What shall I do? —Foreigner

Dear Foreigner: Is it love or simply a physical attraction which binds you to this gay divorcee?

If it were love, her happiness would come first — especially since it involves her child.

On the basis of what you say my advice is to bow gracefully out of this complicated situation.

Dear Helen: I go with a boy of 17. I am 15. We have been too serious. When I resist he says I don't love him. Please help me and many other girls here at school who have the same problem. —Giver

Dear Giver: This is a serious question. The way in which you meet it could affect your entire future.

It's the girl, not the boy who still pays socially and physically. If your boy friend loved you he wouldn't sweet talk you into breaking the social laws. Don't confuse sex with love. Be strong.

Send your problems to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets

NIT Teams Are Fattening Their Records

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The National Invitation Basketball Tournament New York's post-season scramble which opens a month from tonight, is shaping up nicely with the teams already named fattening their records and a bundle of contenders sharpening up while awaiting a beckoning bid.

Five of the seven clubs already in the 12-team lineup whipped to victory Wednesday night, lopped by journey-sleeper Memphis State which ballooned its record to a handy 18-2 in an 81-61 rout of Middle Tennessee.

At the same time, Dayton (15-6) rallied to beat Duquesne 70-67. Detroit (14-7) topped Canisius 62-58. Miami of Florida (16-4) spilled Stetson 91-84. and Army (16-5) cuffed Delaware 70-47 to complete a sweep for the five NIT-topped teams in action.

Holy Cross and LaSalle—a couple of others looking for berths—won again. The Crusaders (13-4) against college opposition) routed Rhode Island's Yankee Conference leaders 96-72 and LaSalle (13-5) handed Syracuse its 14th loss in 16 games, 81-75.

The five remaining berths in the NIT should pose no serious problems, with at least one spot or maybe two going to the Missouri Valley and the Middle Atlantic conferences, which send their No. 1 club into the NCAA.

The strong McVolley probably will send defending NIT champ Bradley and perhaps Wichita or St. Louis into the NIT if Cincinnati Either St. Joseph's (Pa) or Temple, whichever doesn't go to the NCAA, will go to the NIT from the Middle Atlantic. The other berths could be up for grabs from among Niagara (12-3), Seattle, Chicago Loyola, as well as Holy Cross and LaSalle.

Elsewhere Wednesday night seventh-ranked North Carolina beat North Carolina State 62-56 and went into a tie with idle Duke for first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Louisville, one of the four large teams chosen for the NCAA tourney, set a school record in crushing Ohio U. 117-84 for its 18th win against four losses. Brown pulled an Ivy League upset, beating Yale 67-61 and dropping the Elis 1½ games behind front-running Princeton, Pitt, 11 points behind at the half, rallied to beat Fordham 60-53, and Navy scored 12 straight points just before the end to spill Georgetown (DC) 66-57.

Pender to Defend His Fight Title

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP)—Paul Pender, who has signed to defend his version of the world middleweight title against Carmen Basilio, says he's through trying to arrange a match with Gene Fullmer.

"I'm through with him," Paul said. "I don't need him. He needs me. We tried to make a fight and they didn't want it. He'll have to fight me someday, but I'm not going to worry about it."

Fullmer, of West Jordan, Utah, owns the National Boxing Association version of the title. Pender's crown is recognized in New York, Massachusetts and Europe.

It's for that version of the title that Basilio, 33-year-old onion farmer from Chittenango, N.Y., will challenge in the April 22 bout in Boston Garden. The fight will be nationally televised (ABC-TV) with Boston and a 100 mile radius blacked out.

"This clears the fields," Pender said after the contract was signed Wednesday. "I fight Basilio and I've proved all I'll ever have to about being the rightful champ. Basilio, former middleweight and welterweight champion, is assuming a comeback after a brief retirement."

Asks Forfeit of Bond Be Reversed

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court has been asked to set aside a $7,500 bail bond ordered forfeited when a defendant arrived late for his trial on burglary and grand larceny charges.

The appeal was filed Wednesday by Central Casualty Co. of Chicago, which provided the bond for Stockton Van Buren Darnelle of Seattle, Wash.

Circuit Judge Charles W. Light ordered bond forfeited when Darnelle failed to show up at the appointed time for his Nov. 21 trial at Jonesboro.

Darnelle showed up three hours and 15 minutes after the scheduled starting time and explained that he was delayed because bad weather held up his airline flight from Seattle to Memphis.

Porkers Get Jr. College Player

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—David Wolston, a guard and line-backer at Victoria, Tex., Junior College last year, has enrolled at the University of Arkansas, head football coach Frank Broyles announced today.

Broyles said Wolston came highly recommended from Victoria, which has abandoned football. Wolston will have two years of eligibility and will be eligible to play next fall, Broyles said.

Arkansas, Southwest Conference champion last year, has lost two top linebackers, guard Wayne Harris by graduation and Full-back Curtis Cox by scholastic ineligibility.

ed Nations' presence in the Congo," and said a U. N. pull-out there—such as demanded by the Soviet Union—would add up to disaster.

Kennedy dealt at some length with the government set up under Joseph Kasavubu as president "is the only legal authority entitled to speak for the Congo as a whole." Both the Soviet Union and the United Arab Republic have recognized the Stanleyville-based regime headed by pro-Communist Antoine Gizenga, a supporter of deposed Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba, whose assassination touched off the new crisis.

As for the domestic economy, Kennedy said the country is "most concerned about the very serious problem of unemployment." There are, he said, more than 5.5 million Americans who want work and can't find a job.

Alluding to congress, the President said he hopes there will be action on his legislative program as soon as possible. He reviewed steps he already has taken on his own to relieve hardship and encourage business recovery, and then listed additional measures he had just ordered apart from proposals which require congressional approval.

These include instructions to quicken distribution of $4 billion in tax refunds which are coming due, in an effort to get this money into the spending stream.

Kennedy also announced that $734 million is being made available this month for the federal highway construction program. He noted that faster outlay of these funds will have to be implemented by state and local governments, and disclosed he had dispatched telegrams to all state governors urging a speed-up.

Also, the President said, the government is changing its regulations to make more small business firms eligible for defense contracts.

Kennedy's news conference—his fourth since taking office—was broadcast live on nationwide television and radio. He was solemn for the most part, but on a couple of occasions he joined in laughter touched off by questions or by his replies.

Kennedy had this to say on other matters:

Rocket Boosters—The Soviet Union is ahead of the United States in development of super-booster capable of hurling the Soviets' Venus-bound vehicle into space, and this "is a matter of great concern." While indications are, the President added, that the Soviet Union will remain ahead in this field for some time unless there is a U. S. scientific breakthrough, "we have sufficiently

U. S. Skating Hope Hinges on Youths

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK (AP)—America's faint hopes of retaining its dominant position in world and Olympic figure skating competition rested today on the speedy development of some promising young skaters and the unlikely possibility that retired stars would return to competition.

Still stunned by Wednesday's appalling air tragedy which cost the lives of 18 members of the United States team, enroute to Prague for the world championships, prominent American coaches and officials surveyed the prospects for the 1964 Olympics and found little that was encouraging.

"These were the finest skaters in the country—the best three in every division," said Carl W. Gram Jr., secretary of the U. S. Figure Skating Association. "Now we will have to start from the beginning—with our juniors and kids. It's a long road back."

Pierre Brunet, coach of Olympic women's champion Carol Heiss and many other leading skaters, said: "It will be two Olympics before we can hope to have a strong representative team again."

The U. S. has won every individual men's Olympic title since World War II and the 1956 and 1960 women's championships. The winners all have retired or turned professional.

Tim Brown, who escaped the jet plane crash in Brussels because he withdrew after placing third in the U. S. men's championship, revealed Wednesday that he had given up competition because of a heart condition. He is the best surviving male skater. Brown is 22 and although he said he had quit for good, he might return by 1964.

Tenley Albright, the 1956 Olympic women's champion, and Barbara Ann Roles, third in the 1960 Olympics, have retired and aren't likely to return.

Market Rally Brings Heavy Trading

By ED MORSE

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market pushed a strong rally into the third straight session with trading heavy early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .90 to 235.60 with industrials up 1.30, rails up .90 and utilities up .30.

Steels, motors, rails and chemicals were among gainers. Key stocks advanced from fractions to a point or more.

American Telephone was delayed almost two hours in opening due to a pile up of buy orders resulting from its setting of a price of $86 per share on its stock rights offering. One share of stock may be purchased at that price for each 20 held.

AT&T common rose 3 points to 115.

The market as a whole continued to respond to indications of increased federal spending to fight the recession. The improvement in steel production remained a factor bolstering steel shares. U. S. Steel and Bethlehem were up about a point.

Big Three motors produced fractional gains. Chemicals were mostly higher, DuPont and Air Reduction gaining about a point apiece. Thiokol jumped more than a point. Eastman Kodak lost more than a point.

large boosters to protect us militarily."

Cuba—Obviously alluding to the Eisenhower administration, Kennedy said this government probably miscalculated in assessing the Castro regime in Cuba. "But," he added, "I have no evidence that anyone did it out of any motive but to serve the United States."

Soviet Union—Despite current tension over the Congo, Kennedy expressed hope "real progress can be made this year" toward improvement of Soviet-American relations. He called anew for cooperation in peaceful ventures rather than "differing on matters which carry with them such hazards."

El Salvador—Kennedy announced the United States has extended diplomatic recognition to the three-week-old government of El Salvador.

Burke—Kennedy said he now is "happier than ever" about his policy of requiring advance clearance of national defense statements and speeches made by government officials. The President made that remark—and drew another round of laughter—in discussing sharp comment on Soviet-American relations in an interview granted by Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations. The interview occurred, Kennedy said, on Jan. 12—eight days before the new administration took office.

boosted at least $750,000 each year.

A question of whether the Senate approved an appropriations bill for the state Public Service Commission apparently was answered Wednesday when Lt. Gov. Nathan Gordon ruled that the measure was properly passed.

The dispute arose Tuesday when the upper chamber concurred in a House amendment then failed to give the bill itself enough votes for passage.

But the bill had passed the Senate previously and Gordon said that, under state Supreme Court rulings, the second vote on passage was unnecessary.

Among bills passed by the Senate Wednesday were measures which would:

Create a state Aeronautics Board.

Give the state Public Service Commission authority over pipeline crossings of navigable streams.

Permit a divorce suit to be filed if either plaintiff or defendant meets Arkansas residence requirements. Present requirements apply only to plaintiffs.

Increase the retail mark-up on wine from 13 per cent to 18 per cent.

Bills introduced in the upper chamber would:

Increase the War Memorial Stadium Commission from nine to 15 members and eliminate the present staggered terms by providing for two-year appointments.

Permit residents of areas proposed for annexation to vote on whether they desire affiliation with the municipality proposing the annexation.

House introductions Wednesday included proposals to:

Make it illegal to possess liquor or beer in any dry county, township, municipality, ward or precinct.

Add from $1 to $10 to court costs imposed in certain traffic offenses. The money would finance a system to keep up with traffic offenders and provide for a pay increase for State Police.

Passed by the House and sent to the Senate were bills to:

Require county clerks to maintain and post a list of all applicants for absentee ballots.

Increase penalties for selling liquor to minors. A $100 minimum fine would be set for first offenders with a third conviction resulting in a prison sentence of from 21 to 50 years.

Permit doctors to form medical corporations.

The lower chamber defeated a

House bill to require the withholding of salaries of circuit and chancery judges who failed to make final disposition of cases within 120 days. Also defeated was a measure to permit farmers to post certain unfenced land.

The House is expected to concur in a Senate resolution inviting the governor to appear before a joint session Monday to explain his educational construction program.

Faubus declined to give any details of his plan but said he had discussed it with presidents of Arkansas colleges Tuesday night.

A bill calling for a $52 million construction bond issue — to be financed by a soft drink tax — was withdrawn from the House when it became apparent it would be defeated.

Still pending is a measure to finance such a bond issue from general revenue.

The University of Arkansas, the seven state-supported colleges, Arkansas Children's Colony and State Hospital would benefit from the bond issue.

The House Committee on Banks and Banking Wednesday night recommended passage of a bill to put mortgage loan companies under the 1959 state securities act. The measure also would strengthen surety bond provisions of the act and require corporations to renew their stock issue permits each year.

Another House group — the Public Health and Practice of Medicine Committee — Wednesday night attached a "do not pass" recommendation to a bill to allow licensed practical druggists to compound prescriptions. Only registered pharmacists are now permitted to handle prescriptions.

A Senate committee failed to come up with any recommendation on a proposal for an Arkansas Motor Vehicle Commission. But the committee chairman, Sen. Russell Elrod of Siloam Springs, said after a hearing Wednesday that the bill would be reconsidered.

The proposed commission would license vehicle dealers, salesmen, factory representatives, distributors and automobile auctions.

Proponents say it would eliminate shady dealers, prevent unfair sales tactics and protect dealers from manufacturer pressure. Opponents claim it would harness free enterprise.

Use Tax Has

Van Dalsen didn't oppose the Fagan bills in the House and said later that he and Fagan had agreed to let all the conflicting measures pass and leave the matter up to Faubus. Fagan confirmed the understanding.

Faubus previously has vetoed bills similar to those by Fagan. McLees doesn't think there is any widespread evasion of the use tax on the big purchases it was designed to cover. He points out that it would be impossible to police the small purchases — for example, the east Arkansas residents who buy clothing in Memphis even though theoretically this also would be covered.

For collection purposes sales tax and use tax returns are lumped together. Both currently are yielding the state about $50 million yearly. About $3 million of this, McLees says, comes from the use tax.

There have been several amendments to the use tax law since its original adoption, but none of these made basic changes. After the Arkansas Supreme Court held that cotton ginning equipment wasn't covered by the 1949 act, the legislature amended the law to provide that both such equipment and rice drying machinery fall within provisions of the law.

The 1949 act empowered the revenue commissioner to set up administrative regulations to carry out the law. The brief regulations which have been issued deal mainly with the keeping of records and the making of reports.

Chicken With Rice and Mushroom Soup Mixes Are New

TWO MORE DELICIOUS SOUPS HAVE BEEN ADDED to the popular line of Lipton soup mixes. They are chicken rice soup and mushroom soup. An interesting fact about both soups is that they are made with the revolutionary new freeze-dry process which preserves the volume and flavor of the mushrooms and chicken. The new mushroom variety is a richly smooth soup made from the authentic blend of exotic domestic and imported Boletus mushrooms. This, as with all their other soup mixes, has many fabulous uses in every-day cookery.

- CHICKEN GUMBO SOUP
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
  - 2 tablespoons chopped onion
  - 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper
  - 3 cups boiling water
  - 1 cup canned tomatoes
  - 1/2 cup okra, sliced thin
  - 1 package Lipton Chicken Rice Soup Mix

Cook onion and green pepper in butter or margarine, until soft. Add water, tomatoes, okra and soup mix. Cook 10 minutes. Makes 4-6 servings.

Little Ahead If Can't Find a Solution

By JAMES MARLOW Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's no wonder President Kennedy is giving so much time and thought to dealing with Premier Khrushchev. The chubby Russian may be the last train home.

There will be nothing to look forward to except intensified and more dangerous cold war if this country and Russia don't find some common and amicable ground upon which to do business. Khrushchev won't be around indefinitely. Unless in his lifetime some peaceful settlements are reached, the Communist world, particularly the Red Chinese, can consider his peaceful coexistence policy repudiated.

The logical alternative to that is a return to the aggressions of Stalin.

Khrushchev may be repudiated by his own followers even in his own lifetime unless his pursuit of peaceful coexistence can be realized in some demonstrable way. His Chinese allies think he is wrong and have said so.

In a way Khrushchev has been a political freak. The only kind of communism the world knew until Stalin died in 1953 was Stalin's kind—cold, more or less inarticulate, and unimaginative.

It was unimaginative in a very real sense. Stalin relied on the primitive use of force. He ignored the more modern weapons of propaganda, visits abroad, and foreign aid to influence other peoples.

Khrushchev not only denounced Stalin but made the complete switch by drawing a peaceful picture of Russia while using all the modern public relations methods available, the ones Stalin didn't try.

What Stalin and Khrushchev retained in common, as Kennedy pointed out in his State of the Union message, was a determination to make communism prevail.

One basic difference remained. It was impossible to reach peaceful solutions with Stalin; it might be possible with Khrushchev. Kennedy has made it clear he will ignore no effort toward doing so.

Khrushchev sits and waits until Kennedy makes up his mind on what he'll do and how.

But just because Khrushchev may be the last chance in a generation for some peaceful solutions, Kennedy almost certainly will be glad to talk with him if the Russian comes to this country in April for a United Nations meeting.

Kennedy hasn't even indicated yet that he will. At the moment his policy is to say practically nothing about Khrushchev or Russia. But he has said "each day the crises multiply."

Since he spoke they've become worse. For example: the killing of Patrice Lumumba in the Congo. One of Kennedy's most critical problems is one which may lie beyond his control. While he ponders the course to take in seeking settlements with Khrushchev, the possibility of settlements may be made even more remote by explosions, like the Congo, in areas far distant from both Russia and the United States.

Value of a Life

TOKYO (AP) — The Japanese national police agency puts the value of a human life at $1,666. A bill being drafted for Parliament sets a compensation scale equivalent to 1,000 times a person's average daily wage—with a maximum of $1,666 — for anyone killed trying to rescue another from drowning, fire or other catastrophe.

Oatmeal Waffles With Praline Syrup

Week-ends and holidays call for leisurely breakfasts. Oatmeal waffles with praline syrup are an especially suitable main dish. They are easy to make and can be cooked to order for the late risers with a minimum of inconvenience. Complete the menu with chilled orange juice, milk and coffee. This is one way a basic breakfast pattern of fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter can be modified to offer variety and still fulfill the requirements for an adequate morning meal.

Oatmeal Waffles With Praline Syrup

- 2 1/2 cups prepared buttermilk pancake mix or plain pancake mix
- 1 cup rolled oats, quick or regular
- 4 eggs
- 1/2 cup melted fat or cooking oil
- 2 cups milk

Measure ingredients into mixing bowl in the order listed. Stir just until dry ingredients are moistened. Pour batter into heated waffle iron; cook until done. Serve with praline syrup (add chopped pecans, as desired, to syrup). Yield: 8 (9 inch) large or 12 small (4 1/2 inch) waffles.

Would Share the Cost of NATO Forces

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy called today for an equitable sharing by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies of the costs of military defense and of economic aid to others.

In a message to the NATO Council in Paris, the President said he was sure the nations of Western Europe wish to devote a fair share of their growing resources to the West's common efforts.

"Without that willingness our effort will surely fail," he said. "In all our common enterprises we must establish principles, clearly understood by our governments and our peoples, on which burden-sharing can be based."

Kennedy's message pledged this country's "full participation in the common defense effort," thus seeking to allay any misgivings lest his plea for greater European effort imply a letdown in America's contribution.

This country also is prepared, he said, to bear a heavy share of the task of aiding economic development — which he described as "vital to the preservation of freedom in the turbulent, emerging continents of Asia, Africa and

Ike, Wife to Visit in Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Former President Eisenhower and his wife will come to Japan sometime in October, Japanese sources assisting in arrangements for the visit said today.

WHAT EVER HAPPENED TO BABY JANE

By Henry Farrell

By HENRY FARRELL
Chapter XXII

Jane awoke in darkness, her heart pounding. All around her was a threat of something, a terrible, encircling danger. She reached out in a frightened, tentative effort to determine where she was. Her hand touched a warm softness, and then it came to her that she was lying on the divan in the living room.

And then it all came back to her — her decision to wait until it was dark when it would be safer. But now the darkness had come: it was here.

By clawing at the back of the divan she managed to pull herself into a sitting position. Mrs. Stitt, Edna. She held her breath against the name, trying to make it leave her mind. Just to think the name made her want to cry, on and on, helplessly. Getting to her feet, she made her way unsteadily through the darkness into the hall.

In the kitchen, she found the light switch and turned it on. Next to the utility sink, leaning against it, was the wheel chair, the light collapsible one Blanche had bought to carry in the car for the times when she had to go out. Jane reached out to it. But then her hand faltered and fell away.

She hadn't meant to hurt anyone. But they had been at her, deviling her, forcing her. It wasn't her fault — if only someone somewhere would understand that. Tears coursed freely down her cheeks and fell into the lower darkness.

"Edwin..."
He was a nice person, a good person, mild and polite. But they would never be friends now. She cringed inwardly before the thought of what Edwin Flagg, in his goodness, would think of her if he knew the terrible things she had done. Turning away from the thought, she reached out and picked up the chair. If she could just get through this last terrible part, she promised herself, this would be different. She would be good — like Edwin — and she would never do anything bad again. Never, never again.

Mrs. Bates rose from her chair with a little sigh of pleasure and crossed to turn off the set. It was a lovely picture, even now after all these years. The movies had seemed so much pleasanter in those days, so much prettier.

Mrs. Bates opened the nearest door and looked out into the night. A mild breeze touched her cheek. Perhaps, she thought, since it was so nice out, a short walk would tire her and help her to sleep.

Slipping a light coat over her shoulders, she moved down the length of the walk, stepped out. The Hudson house loomed large and ghostly in the moonlight, and again the vision of Blanche Hudson as she had been in the picture rose in Mrs. Bates's mind.

She heard a sound and looked ahead to see the gate to the back yard swing open. Two figures, one of them seated in a wheel chair and pushed by the other, emerged through the gateway and out into the street. The figures turned away in the direction of the garage.

After her encounter with Jane Hudson that morning, Mrs. Bates was not eager to approach her again. But surely Blanche Hudson was not like her sister. And there was still the clipping to be used as an instrument of introduction. Raising her hand, she started forward.

"Miss Hudson!"
The shadowed figures, close now in the open door of the garage, stopped abruptly. Jane Hudson whirled about, peering through the darkness at Mrs. Bates's approach. Turning back to the wheel chair, she deliberately pushed it ahead of her into the obscuring darkness of the garage. Mrs. Bates stopped short with a gasp of astonishment.

Hot anger began to boil up inside her and with it a determination to force Jane Hudson to offer her a polite and civil introduction to her sister. Hastening to the garage, she peered inside just in time to see the light go on in the car as Jane Hudson opened its door. She saw, too, with a sense of wonderment that the figure in the wheel chair, despite the mildness of the evening, was swathed from head to toe in a heavy blanket.

Jane Hudson froze for a moment where she was and then quickly slammed the car door, cutting off the light. There were quick footsteps and then, with no pretext of having any real excuse for doing so, she reached up and pulled the garage door down, directly in Mrs. Bates's face.

Mrs. Bates could hardly believe it. For a minute she was so stunned even to move.

In a new flush of anger Mrs. Bates turned and stalked away from the garage in the direction of the corner. Just wait, she thought furiously, just wait till I tell Harriett! Why, I've never been so insulted in all my life! (To Be Continued)

Plane Lands on Highway 67

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP)—"I am out of gas, I am going to land," radioed W. C. Pardue of Clarksville, Tenn. And with that he set his light plane down on new U.S. 67 near here.

Pardue was en route to Little Rock's Adams Field. He finally got there after sheriff's deputies, called to the scene of the highway landing, got him refueled.

Only one car was on the divided pavement when he headed in for a landing. Pardue told officers, and its driver paid no attention to him. He rolled the plane to the side of the road until he was ready to take off again.

French Silent
COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP) — Prime Minister Sirimavo Bandaranaike told the Senate Tuesday night the French government had refused to confirm or deny reports it plans to explode an H-bomb in the South Indian Ocean.

Eggs Go Creole

To be an artist with eggs you need only remember to cook them gently and season them well. A Creole Sauce, given its piquancy by Tabasco, the liquid red pepper seasoning which might have been invented just for eggs, transforms omelets and poached eggs into sophisticated dishes.

Although most people realize the importance of eggs in the diet, many people do not realize the versatility of eggs. They are wonderful breakfast food, but equally at home in luncheon or dinner menus, and they are real boons to the budget.

Tabasco Eggs Creole

2 English muffins, halved 4 slices American cheese
4 eggs, poached

Toast English muffins in broiler until lightly browned. Top each half with a slice of cheese; broil until cheese is melted. Top each with a poached egg; serve with Creole Sauce. Yield: 4 servings.

Creole Sauce

2 tablespoons butter or margarine 1 can (1 pound) tomatoes
1/4 cup chopped onion 1/2 teaspoon Tabasco
1/4 cup diced green pepper 1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar

Melt butter in saucepan; add onion and green pepper and cook until onion is tender, but not brown. Add remaining ingredients and simmer over low heat 30 minutes.

Yield: Approximately 2 cups.

Cook-Size Apple Pies

Teach and eat! There's double fun in making apple pies just like Mother's with one recipe shared between two little future cooks! Mother's easy recipe is divided in half to make one 5-inch pie and two 3-inch pies, just daughter's size. Simplified crust uses pastry mix; the appropriate apple variety for flavor-retention is the tart and tangy Washington Winesap. Just as Mother does, little girls sprinkle Winesap apples with coconut, grated orange and lemon rind for tropical touch to pie.

Winesap Apple Pie

2 sticks prepared pastry mix
6 medium Washington Winesap apples
3/4 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup white sugar
1/2 tsp. nutmeg
Grated rind and juice of 1 orange
Grated rind and juice of 1 lemon
3 tbsps. fine-grated coconut
3 tbsps. butter

Prepare pastry according to directions on the package. Line 9-inch pie pan. Wash, peel, core and thinly slice apples. Toss apple slices with the sugars, nutmeg and juices of lemon and orange. Turn into lined pie pan. Sprinkle with orange and lemon rind, coconut, dot with butter. Top with pastry. Bake in 400°F. oven 15 minutes. Lower heat to 350°F., bake an additional 30 minutes. Will make one 9-inch pie OR one 5-inch pie and two 3-inch pies.

Cheers For This Cherry Dessert... It's Low-Calorie!

For such a short month, February can boast of more than its share of red-letter days and special party refreshments. First in our hearts is this George Washington "Cherry Refrigerator Cake", a dream of a dessert that's also pleasingly low in calories.

Easy make-ahead, this party "cake" edged with lady fingers jells in the refrigerator, ready to be turned out on a pretty platter at serving time. It's just tart enough, just sweet enough... and so light-textured it fairly melts in the mouth.

Our calorie-shy recipe contains no sugar. Instead, sweetening is accomplished by the use of the calorie-free sweetener, Sucaryl. As a result, more than one-third of the calories normally contained in this luscious, rich-tasting dessert have been eliminated.

Do try this recipe:

Cherry Refrigerator Cake

(Low-Calorie)

2 envelopes (or tablespoons) unflavored gelatin 1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup cold water 2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 cups canned sour red cherries 2 egg whites
1 tablespoon Sucaryl solution 1/4 cup nonfat dry milk
7 lady fingers, split in half 1/4 cup ice water

Soften gelatin in cold water. Drain cherries; reserve liquid, adding water to make 1 1/2 cups. Heat liquid. Add softened gelatin, stirring to dissolve. Add Sucaryl, salt and lemon juice. Chill until mixture begins to set. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Combine dry milk and ice water; beat until of consistency of heavy cream; fold into gelatin mixture. Fold in cherries. Line a loaf pan (9 x 5 inches) with lady fingers. Carefully spoon in gelatin mixture. Chill until set. Unmold and slice to serve. Garnish with additional sweetened cherries, if desired.

Makes 10 servings. Each serving contains 61 calories; 4 grams protein; 0.5 gram fat; 11 grams carbohydrate. If made with sugar, each serving would contain 100 calories.

Texas Considers Horse Racing

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A hotly argued proposal to restore big time horse racing in Texas by legalizing parimutuel betting at tracks was sent to a subcommittee early today after a marathon hearing.

Rep. V. E. (Red) Berry, self-styled retired gambler and author of the proposed constitutional amendment, made no effort to sidestep a rule that automatically shunts such measures to subcommittee.

Most of the serious argument centered on whether legalized gambling would help or hurt business and the moral of Texas, which outlawed the horse betting machines in 1937.

Reds Stir Pro-Lumumba Rioting

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials said today Communist agitators are stirring up the pro-Lumumba demonstrations at the United Nations and other world centers.

These officials, declining specific identification, said all the demonstrations which have been reported to the U.S. government have been planned in great detail and carried through by a relatively small number of people. The view here is that the riotous actions lacked popular enthusiasm and failed to show any spontaneous welling up of popular emotions over the death of former Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba.

Since Lumumba's death was disclosed Monday, widespread attacks have been carried out on Belgian embassies in many capitals. Lumumba supporters have accused Belgium of complicity in Lumumba's death.

Today's U.N. Security Council meeting at New York on the Congo was disrupted by a riotous but small group of men who broke into the public gallery.

U.S. officials discussed the outbursts with newsmen.

Coffee For Two, Please—
And Be Sure It's Good!

Set a lighted candle on your coffee table. Near it, place a bowl of fresh fruit, perhaps with a wedge of rich cheese and a few crackers. Then, fill your prettiest china cups with dark, steaming coffee.

In this candle-lit setting, two people share the evening coffee hour at its romantic best. When the cups are raised, the coffee should be the most delicious you can brew. It must be rich in flavor, freshly made and hot all the way through. Happily, there is no reason why your coffee should ever be less than excellent.

Simple rules for good coffee

Coffee-making is easy. But so many people lessen the enjoyment of coffee-drinking by brewing their coffee too long, or cheating a bit on the amount of roasted coffee they use. These things are important. They make the difference when you taste that very first sip.

You may have forgotten—or never known—the rules for good coffee-brewing. It will help to go over them now and refresh your memory. There aren't any tricks. Just follow the simple directions, measure accurately, and you will drink perfect coffee every time you make it.

When you make coffee, start with a clean coffee maker, fresh coffee and

Defends Her
Crazy, Mixed
Up Marriage

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

TOKYO (AP) — Shirley MacLaine, wrapped in white mink, sat in the lobby bar of the Hotel Imperial and defended her crazy, mixed-up marriage.

She is weary of doing so. To her there is nothing unusual about having a career in Hollywood and a husband in Tokyo.

But others find it strange. A news magazine recently termed her union with Steve Parker as "the oddest marriage in Hollywood." Her reaction to the story was to frown a pie in the face of the magazine's Tokyo correspondent.

"That story made me mad," she exclaimed with fire in her eye. Shirley sees nothing odd in her marriage to Parker. She explained that he was involved in enterprises in Japan while she was working out a Hollywood contract. But she said that their relationship has not suffered, nor has their daughter, Stephanie, 4½.

"I can name you 15 stars in Hollywood who see less of their children than I do," said Shirley. "When I am not working, she is with me all the time. Or when she is here with Steve, she goes with him everywhere, even on business appointments. What other child spends so much time with her father?"

The Parkers' time and fortunes are now intermingled. Shirley is here to stay in "My Geisha," which is being produced and promoted by Steve Parker.

Shirley is hepped up about the geisha routine, having spent some time at the school for geishas in Kyoto.

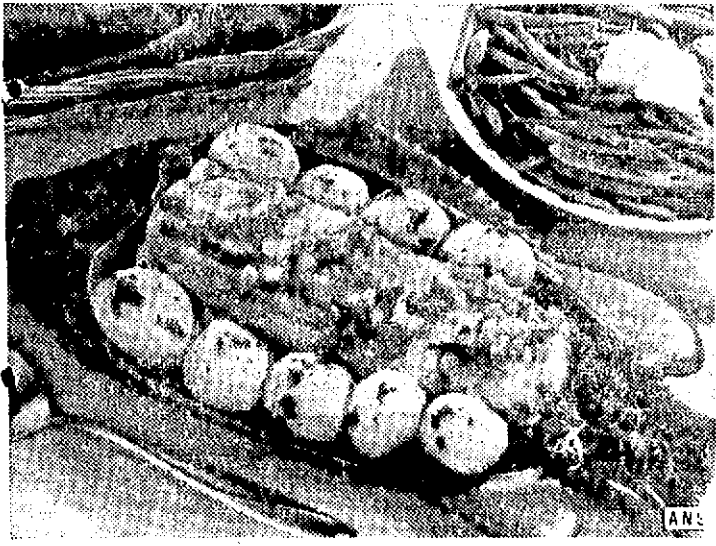

"American women — in fact, women of all other nations could learn some lessons from the geisha," she remarked. "The average Western person doesn't realize how talented these women are."

"It appalls me that the average Western person thinks of the geisha as a prostitute. She isn't. She performs a very worthwhile function for the tired businessman. She listens to his problems, soothes him and talks to him understandably. Then he is ready to go home to his wife perfectly calm and happy. The wife appreciates this, and often she and the geisha are good friends."

If the system is so ideal, could it then be transported to a western community, say, Westport, Conn?

"Probably not," Shirley admitted, "because the American woman is not prepared to be any less than monogamous." Including, she could add, an American woman named Mrs. Steve Parker.

For Your Special Recipe File

NOW IS THE TIME for all good homemakers to come to the aid of their families with new and different fish dishes. This recipe for quick-frozen fish fillets served with an easy dill pickle sauce is a good one to add to your file of family favorites.

BAKED FISH WITH DILL PICKLE SAUCE

1 package (12 ounces) Birds Eye Salt, pepper, and paprika
Cod or Haddock Fillets ½ cup butter or margarine
Melted butter or margarine ½ cup chopped dill pickle
¼ teaspoon sugar

Put frozen block of fish in greased shallow baking dish. Brush with melted butter and sprinkle with salt, pepper, and paprika. Bake in hot oven (400° F.) until easily flaked with a fork—about 40 minutes.

Meanwhile, melt ½ cup butter in a small saucepan. Add dill pickle and sugar and heat gently about 5 minutes to blend flavors. Pour over the baked fish or serve separately, as desired.

• Takes 3 servings.

Jobless
Economy's
Acute Pain

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The economy's most acute ailment today is unemployment.

President Kennedy is redoubling his efforts to relieve this in a series of temporary measures and a plea for quick congressional action on more deeply penetrating ones.

Pockets of sizable and often long persistent joblessness are found across the nation.

They are both a cause and an effect of what the administration calls an out-and-out recession and the most potentially dangerous one since the depression of the 1930s. Joblessness is also the most dramatic of the domestic problems besetting the new administration, although others are more deep-seated and more basic.

Unemployment is always an effect of a recession. As sales drop, production falls, and with it the number of jobs or the number of hours in the work week.

In many instances these persistent unemployment pockets existed while the economy as a whole was still climbing. Yet their very existence, with their cut in buying power, helped to slow that climb. And the increasing number of the jobless and their wider distribution around the nation speeded up the decline the over-all economy has shown for several months.

In some cases unemployment is a symptom of a long-term ailment in a specific industry — example coal. In some cases it is attributed to changes in production methods — example, automation cutting the number of workers needed to produce the same amount of goods.

But much of today's high total — around 5.5 million out of work — is tied to the present business

Young Kennedy
Forgets the Law

BOSTON (AP) — When Edward M. Kennedy, youngest brother of the President, agreed Feb. 7 to waive a $5,000 salary and be a $1-a-year assistant district attorney, he forgot about the state retirement law.

State Treasurer John T. Driscoll notified Kennedy Tuesday all

Motor Vehicle
Commission
Considered

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A bill to set up a motor vehicle commission for the regulation and licensing of employees in the automobile industry in Arkansas was aired today before a senate judiciary committee.

The hearing attracted automobile dealers from over the state and representatives of car manufacturers. The factory representatives atives charged the measure was restrictive and contrary to public interest.

Supporters of the bill called it a necessary regulation for the protection of a "sick industry."

Sen. Merle Peterson of Dumas, a car dealer, explained the bill was modeled after one in Tennessee. He charged, at times, "manufacture representatives become coercive and seek to make us take automobiles we don't want."

Peterson insisted the proposed law would protect customer from the dealer and the dealer from the factory.

Albert H. Belfie, General Motors' merchandise manager, called the bill a device to serve "Certain of the present dealers and is intended to perpetuate their position as retailers."

Belfie charged the bill would restrict the right of dealers to employ salesmen of their choice and would forbid a person from purchasing an automobile at auction.

Rep. G. B. Smith Jr. of Lincoln

He Just Hated
the Boston Bruins

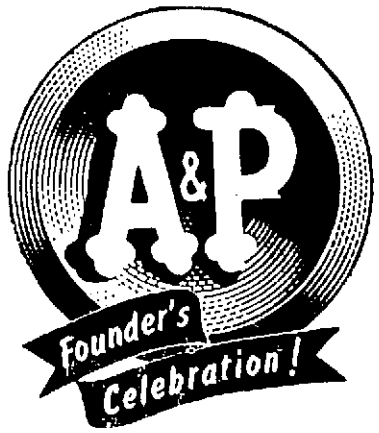

WINIPEG (AP)—Fred Kinash, scout for the Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League, asked a small boy to run an errand for him Tuesday night at the Olympic ring. When the boy returned, Kinash reached in his pocket.

"Here's 10 cents," he said. "Compliments of the Boston Bruins."

"You can keep the dime," said the boy with a frown. "I hate the Boston Bruins."

County, supported the bill on the ground it would protect the small dealer. He said a dealer had to sell $100,000 worth of cars to put "$1,550 in his own pocket."

The Senate Judiciary committee, headed by Sen. Russell E. E. of Siloam Springs, an attorney and farmer, took the measure under advisement after a hearing which lasted an hour and a half.

Faubus Tells of Building Program

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today he had presented a construction program to presidents of Arkansas colleges. But he declined to give details of it.

Faubus, who stepped into the college construction controversy last Friday, said it might be Monday before he would have his proposal ready to present to the legislature.

The college presidents had backed a bill calling for a $52 million bond issue to be financed by a soft drink tax. This was withdrawn when it became obvious it could not be passed.

Faubus said then he would come up with a program for construction at the University of Arkansas, state colleges, Children's Colony and State Hospital.

He said there were several facets to his plan, but he declined to discuss them. Before meeting newsmen today he conferred with K. A. Engel, Arkansas Democrat publisher, and Hugh Patterson Jr., Arkansas Gazette publisher. Faubus said the talk involved the construction program.

Easy, Rosy Fruit Salads

Nestle individual gelatin molds in orange peel "dishes" for a family or party surprise. Raspberry-flavored gelatin, sparked with fresh orange juice, is chuck-full of canned fruit cocktail. "Easy, Rosy Fruit Salads" can be molded right in the orange shells, if you wish. Chill remaining gelatin until firm, then spoon atop gelatin already set in oranges.

Cut 3 large oranges in halves; use grapefruit knife or spoon to remove fruit and membrane, leaving half shells intact. Scrape inside of orange shells with spoon to remove all meat and membrane; cut fruit from membrane. Drain, reserving 1/2 cup orange juice. Dissolve 1 (3-ounce) package raspberry-flavored gelatin in 1 1/2 cups hot water; add orange juice; chill until partially set. Fold in orange segments, 1 cup drained canned fruit cocktail, 1/2 cup chopped celery and 1/2 cup chopped nuts. Pour into 6 individual molds and chill firm. At serving time, unmold into orange shells; garnish with lettuce leaves. Makes 6 servings.

Textiles Big Story in Mass.

EDITORS' NOTE: The textile industry is the key to unemployment in Massachusetts. In the following article, last of a series covering a tour of the depressed labor areas of the country, Nate Polowetzky, AP's assistant general business editor, tells the New England story.

By NATE POLOWETZKY

BOSTON (AP)—In tracing the growth and development of depressed areas in Massachusetts, all roads ultimately lead back to one point—the textile industry.

In dozens of communities along the rivers and canals of the bay state, mills that once clothed the nation and provided the bread for tens of thousands of families now stand idle, or have been abandoned, pulled down or converted into warehouses.

The looms are quiet and thousands of textile workers are out of jobs.

While other industries are contributing to the state's current over-all unemployment it is the textile industry, primarily, which has provided chronic joblessness.

Despite the significant growth of new industries, creating new jobs, the out of work textile men, especially the elderly among them, face the prospect of continued unemployment.

Prof. William H. Miernyk, Northeastern University economist and one of the recognized authorities on depressed areas here and the New England textile industry says: "A national upswing in the economy will not solve the problem. Some of these people face the tragedy of never going back to work—the older ones particularly."

The unemployment picture in Massachusetts as a whole, however, is a rosy one, compared with such hard hit "depressed area" states as Michigan, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Latest figures show that 148,734 persons were drawing unemployment benefits in the week ended Jan. 28. Thousands of others have exhausted their benefits and one source estimated that 180,000 persons in all were unemployed last month.

There may be more "hidden unemployed." Those people, especially textile workers, who have stopped seeking jobs through hopelessness and are now being taken care of by their children's earnings.

All in all, Massachusetts had an unemployment rate of between 7 and 8 per cent last month, compared with the nationwide figure of some 7 per cent.

(But in Detroit, alone, almost as many persons are out of work as in the entire state of Massachusetts).

Low unemployment in the greater Boston area (comprising nearly half of the state's labor force), calculated at only 4 per cent as of last November, has kept the total unemployment figure down.

It is outside the Boston area, in sections which were once predominantly textile, that the hard hit chronic unemployment places are found—with the out of work rate going up to 12 per cent in some communities.

These areas have had relatively high unemployment for at least a decade.

The decline in textiles in Massachusetts and New England began in the 1920s when big plants began moving to the cheaper Southern labor market. This flight to new locations continued in the '30s together with plant liquidations. The war halted the decline but relocation and liquidations began again in the '50s and are still continuing.

Nationwide textile employment in 1948 (a yearly average) was 1,368,000; in December of 1960 it was 915,700. Textile employment in New England in December 1948 — was 274,000. In the same month last year it was 108,300.

Thousands of jobs have been permanently eliminated by automation and countless others lost in the liquidation of firms under the tremendous impact of foreign imports.

Sign Meant Just What It Said

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Three men entered the office of a contractor early this morning to crack the safe. On the same was the sign: "Danger, explosives inside."

One of the men, a Hungarian refugee formerly employed by the firm, said the notice was a ruse to thwart burglars. He started work with a blowtorch and was blown to bits by the explosion.

The two other burglars, were arrested.

They Like Musical

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — The Broadway musical "West Side Story" opened here Tuesday night before a distinguished audience that liked it. Foreign Minister Golda Meir and most of the diplomatic corps attended the premiere.

Comparison of Russia, U.S. Achievements

EDITOR'S NOTE — The conquest of space is an adventure for all mankind, but the space age was born in the shadow of the military, and it still is sharply affected by the great cold war rivalry. In this second of three articles, American and Soviet achievements are compared.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — In 40 months, 45 satellites have soared up successfully from the United States and Soviet Russia. The Soviets put up 11, this country 34.

The Soviet Union leads in spectacular, impressive firsts and in weights. In quick succession this month, she put up a record-breaking seven-ton Sputnik, then capped this with a huge satellite which went into orbit, and then launched from space a 1,400-pound probe aimed at perhaps hitting or going into orbit around Venus.

The reach toward Venus opened a new, fourth phase of Soviet space age efforts. Until now, the Soviet Union has been bunched her shots in triple plays, each concerned with a different aspect or region of space.

Her first three Sputniks orbited the earth.

Then in 1959, she reached for the moon, hitting it, photographing its back side, and sending one probe past the moon to become the first little man-made planet of the sun. The United States later sent two probes into orbit around the sun, one of them radioing back space findings over a record distance of 22 1/2 million miles.

Abruptly, the Soviets dropped the moon, and last year sent two space probes, weighing up to five tons, orbiting near the earth.

In a brilliant feat, the Soviets brought back part of their second spaceship containing two dogs. The time seemed near to launch a man, but in December the capsule of the third ship failed to obey command signals and burned up. Two dogs, other animals, insect and plant life all perished.

It was a rare if not the first official Soviet admission of any mishap in her space shoots.

Last weekend, the Soviets opened the interplanetary phase, with the new feat of launching a Venus probe from space itself.

She had remained curiously silent about the seven-ton Sputnik, but then one Soviet space official said it had been intended mainly to learn whether such a heavy satellite could be put and kept into a precise orbit.

The Sputnik launching the Venus messenger might have been another seven-ton affair.

The Soviets have behaved like eager explorers pioneering into an unknown continent—not waiting to settle and cultivate one region before venturing out to make first contact with another.

Her fifth venture could be man into space.

Some Western experts believe the Soviets embarked in 1956 or earlier on a plan to send man into space. This would be at least two years ahead of the start of the U.S. program.

Sputnik II, carrying the dog Laika in November 1957, is taken as one sign of such intent.

Limited in weight by smaller rockets, but using ingenious miniaturized equipment, the American program has been more diversified, and more broadly based.

The United States clearly leads, most experts say, in gleaming new

Cites Need for Special Schools

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—All community resources must be harnessed to aid programs for exceptional children, a Florida educator said today.

Special education for the mentally retarded or children otherwise classified as exceptional is "a community problem . . . sometimes local, sometimes state, sometimes regional," said Dr. Darrell J. Mase, dean of health-related services at the University of Florida.

Speaking at a school administrators conference, he recommended formation of a state commission to deal with special education in Arkansas. This would have both professional and lay members.

He praised the Arkansas Children's Colony, Hot Springs Rehabilitation Center, University of Arkansas Medical Center and other facilities, but said these programs must be maintained in addition to educational programs in the schools.

scientific knowledge from and about space, and in cultivating space for valuable practical applications.

Tiros satellites photographing clouds and measuring earth temperatures took the first step toward keen weather eyes in space. Samos II, just put up by the Air Force, is using cameras which could serve as military scouts.

Echo, the shiny balloon and Courier satellites are preparing the way for a space network to relay civilian telephone calls, TV and radio programs, and military commands.

Transit satellites augur artificial stars supplying exquisitely accurate navigational fixes for ships and planes.

But even greater benefits could come from basic knowledge being learned about earth, air, space and sun.

U.S. satellites discovered the Van Allen radiation belts.

U.S. satellites have explored more vigorously and keenly the earth's magnetic and gravitational fields, the great pulses of atomic particles hurled at the earth by gigantic explosions on the sun, the ionosphere, upper atmosphere, the pressure exerted by sunlight, the shape of the earth.

From such studies of the sun's effects on earth could come better understandings of what makes our weather, and perhaps one day to control it.

Knowledge is coming like fruit falling from a tree, says Dr. Robert Jastrow, chief of the theoretical division of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The Soviets have published far fewer reports on their findings, he adds. Since their moon shots, they appear to have lost momentum in studying aspects of space near earth.

He feels the Soviets have attracted fewer scientists with original and imaginative ideas to their space program—perhaps because such scientists are more desperately needed in other fields.

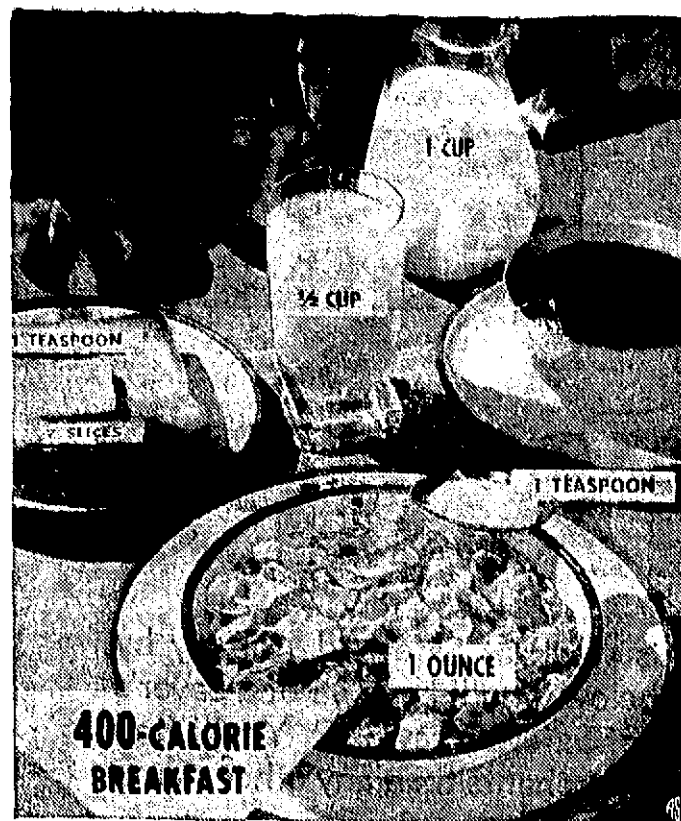

First in developing great booster rockets, the Soviet Union can lift up far heavier payloads, and can equip satellites with excellent guidance controls.

But mammoth boosters are being developed here, too. And the U.S. space program calls for a variety of exciting feats in this year and decade.

To Give Views

WASHINGTON (AP) — Paul Henri Spaak, the outgoing secretary-general of the North Atlantic Alliance, will visit Washington next week and give the Kennedy administration his views on NATO.

Enjoy Your Diet Breakfast!

Dieting? How does this sound for breakfast? Chilled orange juice; a bowl of ready-to-eat high protein cereal with sugar and nonfat milk; hot, buttered toast; black coffee. Sounds good to you, doesn't it? But, you're skeptical, aren't you? How can you eat such a tasty breakfast and still lose weight? This 400-calorie breakfast has been planned to meet the requirements of an adequate weight-reduction breakfast, established by scientists at the State University of Iowa as a breakfast which provides one-fourth of the daily caloric requirements and protein allowance with not less than 15 grams of protein.

By eating this tasty morning meal, you will consume but one-fourth of an adequate weight-reduction diet. On such a diet, weight loss will be more gradual than on crash diets, but the loss will tend to be of a permanent nature, because you are establishing a pattern of eating which should help with permanent weight control.

At the State University of Iowa, subjects on a weight-reduction program felt better and performed better, especially in the late morning hours when they had had an adequate breakfast. Try eating breakfast and see if you don't make out better when you are dieting.

Murals Of Vinyl Plastic New Adventure In Decorating

A mural of Venice is hand screened on vinyl plastic, part of a spring trend of beautiful designs in durable, washable wall coverings.

Two new trends in home furnishings are going to make spring decorating adventurous and practical. One is the result of more foreign travel by Americans that has brought about a new appreciation of the grand old designs of palaces and kings. The other is modern American technology that translates all of this grandeur into washable plastic materials.

Vinyl plastic wall coverings and floor coverings are now winning beauty awards as well as merit badges for scrubbing. At the recent International Home Furnishings show in Chicago, vinyl wall coverings that looked like silk brocades, and vinyl floor covering that caught the textured beauty of old cobblestones were cited for design honors by the American Institute of Decorators. While leading decorators gave a new recognition to elaborate designs of things past, early American as well as Versailles and Florence, they were just as quick to point with pride to today's mass produced home furnishings that make all this grandeur available in your home town.

This spring if you're looking for something French for your bedroom and bath walls, consider a new fleur de lis "flocking" that looks like velvet. It is actually a polyester fiber, much more practical, on white vinyl that looks like silk brocade but can take a scrubbing. There are damask patterns in deep rich colors. One gray moire pattern has a raised design of white bow knots and flowers. It looks fragile but it is made to be hardy.

Murals, formerly available only in expensive and perishable papers or fabrics, are now screen printed right onto vinyl. You may have seen a few in luxury hotels. You'll see more in the dining rooms of your friends who will be looking at Venice or the gardens of Versailles from their own dinner tables. One considerable wall covering manufacturer has laminated vinyl murals and all-over prints to a wall paper backing. These are easier to hang.

Remarks to Man Nearing Retirement

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks a man nearing retirement gets tired of hearing:

"Why, you don't look a day over 64."

"Well, if he can make it, anybody can."

"What does your wife plan to do with all your spare time?"

"I guess from now on you'll have to make only one decision a day, ch—whether to go hunting or fishing."

"That's life for you, Jim. They promise you steady work and then, 45 years later, you find the job is only temporary."

"Just heard you'll be leaving us soon. I hate to bring it up now, but do you remember that 10 bucks you borrowed from me last month at . . . ?"

"You lucky stiff! Some guys have all the luck."

"They don't plan to replace him right away. First, the boss wants to find out just what he's been doing for the last 25 years."

"What do you think you'll miss most, Jim—lunch hour or the coffee breaks?"

"It's a shame he can't hang on until next year, when the improved new pension plan goes into effect."

"You understand, of course, that the firm's contribution to your group life insurance ends with your last regular paycheck."

"If they would only let you stay on for two more years, dear, we'd have the house paid for, at least."

"You retiring? Boy, does that make me feel old!"

"He looks in pretty fair shape. He ought to be good for another five years."

"Don't congratulate him. I hear he's taking it pretty hard."

"Can't we think of something to give him besides a gold watch. What does a retired man need besides a gold watch? He's already got time on his hands."

"I'll tell you one thing, Jim. The old place won't be the same without you."

"The big problem is—how social can you be on the money you get from Social Security?"

The largest Ash Juniper tree of the pine family, on record is in the Sylvania Forest in Stone county, Ark.
